Comcast Volunteers and LeMoyne-Owen College to Plant Community Garden

MEMPHIS, TN (April 28, 2011) – LeMoyne-Owen College Administrative Services is joining ranks with Comcast to create a community garden in the South Memphis community near the campus. Mayor A C Wharton will be among the dignitaries on hand this Saturday, April 30, 2011 beginning at 8:00 a.m., along with more than 60 Comcast volunteers, LeMoyne-Owen College students, and staff to begin digging and planting on property located at 795 Saxon Avenue just south of the campus. “Comcast is one of the College’s most dedicated and supportive corporate partners,” said LeMoyne-Owen College President Johnnie B. Watson. “The company demonstrates that it is community-minded and supportive of any initiative that will assist us in achieving the College’s goals. For this, we are immensely appreciative,” Watson said. The community garden project is being initiated as part of the Comcast Cares Program.
