The LeMoyne-Owen College to Launch Largest Homecoming Parade in Its History

The public is invited to come out to enjoy high-school marching bands, dancers and steppers and beautiful floats.

MEMPHIS, TN (Jan. 10, 2012) Drum rhythms and music from some of Memphis' most beloved high-school marching bands will fill the air and the streets surrounding the campus of The LeMoyne-Owen College Saturday, Jan. 21, 2012 at 10 a.m. The parade is part of LeMoyne-Owen's basketball homecoming week festivities. Le-Moyne supporters, alumni, students and everyone who loves music, dancing and watching beautifully decorated floats roll by are welcome to line the streets and enjoy.

Confirmed high-school marching bands include Booker T. Washington, Kingsbury, and Manassas. STAX Music Academy will perform, along with dancers and steppers representing local fraternities and middle and high schools.

PARADE ROUTE: Saxon Ave at Neptune → Mississippi Blvd. → Walker Ave. → Wellington → McLemore → College → Hollis F. Price → Saxon Ave.

-END-

LeMoyne-Owen College is Memphis, Tennessee's only private, historically black college. The United Church of Christ founded the LeMoyne in 1862 to provide African Americans a transformative education in urban-focused leadership, scholarship, and service. Today, The LeMoyne-Owen College proudly serves more than 1,000 students as it continues to stand as an education beacon for leadership, opportunity and change.
