

Presidential Search Advisory Committee

June 19, 2020

The Presidential Search Advisory Committee held its second meeting on Thursday, June 18. At this meeting, the Committee reviewed the charge and discussed the search process timeline, received an update on the listening sessions conducted to contribute to the presidential profile development to date, and reviewed the advertising campaign.

We are pleased to be working with AGB Search, and our consultants, Kim Bobby kim.bobby@agbsearch.com and Carlton Brown carlton.brown@agbsearch.com will welcome your comments, ideas, and questions at any time during our search. As we prepare to launch the search, they are especially interested in hearing suggestions regarding potential candidates.

Over the next two weeks, our consultants will continue to host listening sessions with members of the College's constituency groups including faculty, staff, students, alumni, and community stakeholders. This will take place via virtual meeting or an online survey instrument. They will discuss the leadership opportunities and responsibilities of the new President, and the desired leadership attributes of the next President. This information will be used in developing the position profile that will guide our search. The Committee will review and approve the profile prior to the launch of the search.

The Presidential Search Advisory Committee thanks those of you who are able to participate in the listening sessions and those who complete the pre-search survey. The committee looks forward to keeping you informed as the search process moves along.
